Green Sisters: A Spiritual Ecology

---

By Sarah McFarland Taylor

HARVARD UNIVERSITY PRESS, United States, 2009. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 226 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Listen to a short interview with Sarah McFarland Taylor. Host: Chris Gondek. Producer: Heron Crane. It is perhaps the critical issue of our time: How can we, as human beings, find ethical and sustainable ways to live with one another and with other living beings on this planet? Inviting us into the world of green sisters, this book provides compelling answers from a variety of religious communities. Green sisters are environmentally active Catholic nuns who are working to heal the earth as they cultivate new forms of religious culture. Sarah Taylor approaches this world as an intimate outsider . Neither Roman Catholic nor member of a religious order, she is a scholar well versed in both ethnography and American religious history who has also spent time shucking garlic and digging vegetable beds with the sisters. With her we encounter sisters in North America who are sod-busting the manicured lawns around their motherhouses to create community-supported organic gardens; building alternative housing structures and hermitages from renewable materials; adopting the green technology of composting toilets, solar panels, fluorescent lighting, and hybrid vehicles;...
